STAY ON YOUR JOB!

The home front can never be as exciting, nor as productive of medals, as the battle front, and no doubt that is as it should be. However, the importance of the home front is coming more and more to be recognized, as indicated the other day when one of the top men at selective service headquarters warned workers against changing jobs with any idea of getting draft deferment thereby.

Thousands of workers throughout the country have jumped their regular peace-time and perhaps unglamorous jobs to go to work for defense industries. Not only is this unlikely to result in draft deferment, but it might actually hasten the day of the draft call, according to Lieutenant-Commander Patrick H. Winston, assistant executive of selective service headquarters in Washington. He said:

"A man moving voluntarily from a non-essential industry to an essential industry in which he has had no previous experience does not improve his draft status. On the contrary, such action to prevent immediate induction might cause him to be called earlier."

So it appears that those of us doing what may seem to be prosaic jobs at home had better stick to them. That advice is obviously based on the fact that the machinery of civilian life must not be disorganized by unplanned shifts from one place to another and one job to another.

The army wants us to stay put until we are needed. If we get too impatient for change, the army says, "O. K., bud. If you're in such a hurry, c'mon and get your rifle."

Are you sure your family's fed right?

Did you know that our Government says: "The Nation is undernourished?"
Did you know that you and your family can eat three square meals each day and still be under-fed?
Did you know that meals properly designed for good nutrition can lose much of their value in cooking?
To help in the Government's program to make this Nation the first national family of buoyantly healthy people the world has ever known, Safeway Homemakers' Bureau is offering a correspondence course in nutrition and meal planning. It is a completely revised edition of Julia Lee Wright's "Kitchen Course in Nutrition" first offered a year ago—the correspondence course in nutrition which helped thousands to enjoy better health. This new "Kitchen Course in Nutrition" is just off the press, to meet war-time demands and includes the newest nutritional standards recommended by our Government.

It's a personalized course, so flexible it will enable you to work out your family food problems regardless of size or ages. It's a course that you can and should use every day.

This material, gathered from Government and Homemakers' Bureau sources costs thousands of dollars. Yet this practical and understandable course, condensed and organized by our own Graduate Nutritionists, is available to you by mail for only 25c.
